

I TRAVEL TOO

A project by the voluntary organization
Nobody is out
to support families and children with severe or very severe disabilities

Where does the project come from?

Disability is a condition that affects not only the person, but the entire family, which thus needs a constant help.

Thanks to the first hand experience of the president of the voluntary organization Nobody is out, Maria Rosaria Coppola, and to the discussion with many caregivers of a severely or very severely disabled from Milan and Lombardy, the needs and difficulties that they have to face everyday have emerged, which have also increased during the COVID 19 pandemic.

Families with disability

2020

The health emergency has compelled the families with disabled children to segregate even more, due to the fear of bringing them the virus

2021

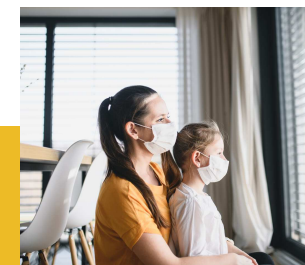

The virus still circulates, and families with disabled children are still barricaded indoors. Moreover adults, caregivers, disabled children become ill, with tragic outcomes.

9.000

Families in Lombardy with children with severe or very severe disabilities continue to need and require help.

PROBLEMS

- Isolation and loneliness
- Economical and familiar issues
- Relationship and couple issues
- Scarce attention for the siblings (brothers and sister of disabled children), who live isolated, frail, angry and suffer alone

The aims of the project

The I TRAVEL TOO project aims to be a service able to generate a virtuous circle within which the families with a disabled person can have:

Autonomy and security

Relief for the disabled person and the caregivers

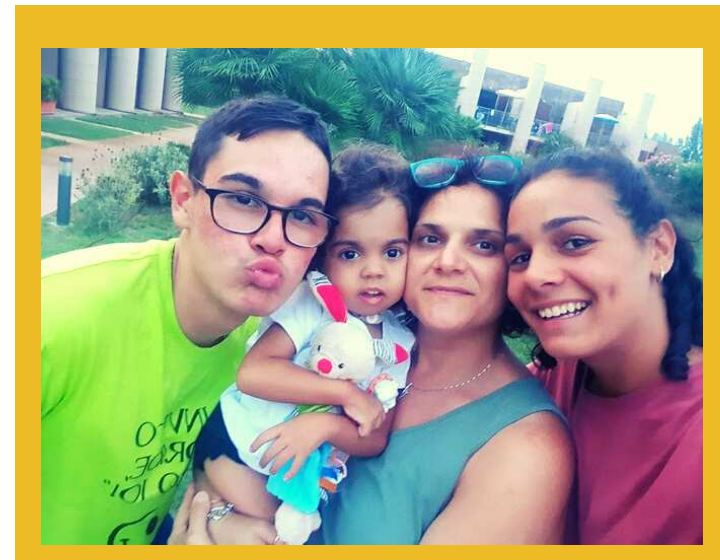

Help for the family and the siblings

The project opportunities

I TRAVEL TOO aims to provide the families with a disabled person the opportunity to

- Escape from a difficult and complicated everyday life, experiencing some days of harmony, security and family uniqueness;
- Have an organized transport with all the first aid equipment that a disabled person might need, without any anxiety for the devices and the encumbrance in the car;
- Have everything one might need to travel from one region to another for hospitalization, a medical consultation or even only a moment of relax with the whole family.

Who benefits of the project?

Many children with severe or very severe disability suffer of such an unstable health condition that they cannot leave their homes even for attending school.

I TRAVEL TOO is a great opportunity, that would allow families to finally get out of their houses and let their children explore the world, see the colors of nature, the sky and the depth of the sea.

Thanks to the project many disabled children and their families will be able to travel and see unexplored places, in total safety and security, due to a special vehicle built and equipped on the basis of their needs. Last but not least, the prices of such an important service are affordable.

The project also includes telemedicine assistance with a pediatric nurse and a doctor, who can help the family remotely by a video call.
